

There is a denervation atrophy of all of the muscles of the right shoulder (compare normal dark gray muscles left shoulder to white, fatty replaced muscles right shoulder) due to avulsion of the roots of the right brachial plexus. Pseudomeningoceles are present along the expected course of the proximal right brachial plexus (red arrow).

